For Authors

Optional Open Article » OOpenArt

We have announced a new optional ‘open access’ strategy for authors. OOpenArt provides a chance for scientists to publish open access papers in the online edition of our journals for a specific fee. OOpenArt papers are published in both the printed and online editions. The peer review process and quality requirements are the same in case of both the traditional and OOpenArt manuscripts.

Our main goal was to find a business solution that is clear, attractive and affordable. The fee of an OOpenArt article is 900 EUR (1260 USD) but it can be even less. Akadémiai Kiadó offers a 50% discount for corresponding authors of a) subscribing institutions, b) Hungarian institutions, c) institutions of low- and lower-middle income countries. Discounts may not be combined, all these authors should pay 450 EUR (630 USD).

In addition to new manuscripts, OOpenArt can be applied for papers already published. Once the fee is settled the article in the archive or in the current volume will be opened. Should you have any questions, please contact the editors or see the ‘Instructions for Authors’ page of our journals.

Online Submission System

Editorial Manager at Akadémiai Kiadó

Akadémiai Kiadó uses Editorial Manager (EM), a web-based manuscript submission and peer review system, which substantially reduces the editorial processing and reviewing and shortens the overall publication time. By using this tool, authors will be able to submit manuscripts, check on the status of their paper, read reviews and editors’ comments, and communicate with the editorial offices through the Internet.

Authors are invited to begin using EM to submit new manuscripts to the following journals:

About our Pricing Policy

Aspects of our pricing policy remain unchanged relative to 2011.

Format dependant pricing

Only print-plus-online and online only formats are available, and they are priced differently. The combined print-plus-online rate is about 15% higher. Online only subscriptions are renewed accordingly. Other subscriptions are renewed as print-plus-online ones but customers can migrate to the discounted online only pricing option.

In the future, MetaPress will continue to provide the online access.

One single price irrespective of institutional size

AK admits that there are many current experiments into pricing, based on probable or potential use, with institutional size being the most common approximate measure of use. For the present, however, AK believes that the best value for the subscriber will be delivered by having a single price for all library subscribers irrespective of the institutional size.

Benefit: All institutions pay the same price with predictable budgeting and transparency of pricing. Corporate and academic rates are the same.

Free access to back-files with current subscription – perpetual access rights

With a live subscription all online back issues of a particular journal or journal collection, going back to the first online issue (earliest in 2000), are included in the subscription, whether or not they had previously been purchased. If subscriptions are maintained then current subscribers gain free access to previously unsubscribed material. Once a subscription is cancelled customers retain perpetual access to all online content that they have specifically subscribed to, but not to the back files.

Benefit: Libraries that maintain a subscription to an individual title or a collection get free access to the earliest available online back-file volumes. AK has performed all these changes in order to satisfy customers and expand access to its content.

Additional discounts for low- and lower-middle income countries

In order to meet the needs of low- and lower-middle income countries, AK is offering the online-only-collections with additional significant discounts of between 50% and 70% over and above those available to libraries in wealthy economies.

Benefit: Low- and lower-middle income countries can obtain access to content that otherwise would be unobtainable.

Details of our pricing policy and the prices for individual journals and the packages are available on our web site at www.akademiaikiado.hu/pricing.
